GENERAL BASEBALL NEWS OF THE DAY

The home team was beaten at Chicago yesterday in a very close and exciting game. Victory almost looked certain one time. New York won a game and Boston was defeated. There were many interesting features in local baseball.

IFFECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. CHICAGO, August 23 .- Nobody saw any worms or chinch bugs on the game between Chicago and Pittsburg to-day. It was one of the prettiest contests at the Congress street grounds this season, and it had a tail so large that it almost flung Anson out of the vard with one swash. Hutchinson and Staley pitched remarkable ball, but the latter did not receive good support, the large, fat gentleman in the left field for the visitors being responsible for one of Chicago's runs. This same gentleman made another seemingly disastrous error, but the rest of his colleagues managed to retrieve what had been lost, and thereby held the score down to small figures. The famous stonewall infield of the home team played with the precision and dash of former days. For the visitors

much applause by his excellent work behind the bat. Big Fred Carroll made three out-rageous errors in the first inning. If any more errors or worse errors were ever made in a record the performance. Carroll muffed Van Haltren's easy fly, fell over Anson's short single and then came pretty nearly bunting the ball into the grand stand in an effort to catch Van Haltren at the plate.

In the second, third and fourth innings Chicagos went out in the order in which they went to bat. In the fifth, Williamson and Farrell pounded out singles, but stupid base running and some clever work by the Pennsylvanians' infield kept them from scoring. Senator Ryan opened the sixth with a long high drive over Williamson had struck out in the sixth. Farrell hit safely, but was doubled up with Burns a moment later on the latter's sharp grounder

HUTCHINSON IN FORM.

In the eighth the Chicagos did not get a man past first base. Hutchinson's command over the ball was too much for the visitors. They sawed away with great desperation but rarely succeeded in placing a hit. Rowe hit safely in the first inning and Carroll in the third, but neither got farther than first bass. After Beckley had been retired in the fourth, Fields cracked a liner to left, and on an error by Williamson, who let Hanlon's hot grounder gallop between his legs, the backstop ther went to third, then Hutchinson made a wild pitch and Fields started for home. He was caught at the plate on a close decision. The visitors went out in order in the fifth. Carroll opened the sixth on a safe hit, but the remarkble work of Pfeffer, Williamson and Burns prevented any runs, although the hitting at the infield by Rowe, Beckley and Fields was terrific. Not one of the Pennsylvanians reached first base in the seventh and eighth innings. Everybody now thought that the visitors would be shut out and many spectators started ounds as the Pittsburgs came to take their last crack of the ball. Beckley galloped over the sward, and in a voice which seemed to come out of his boots and roll in great billows into the stands, announced that he was going to get some runs. Rowe was first

MADE A BASE HIT.

Then Beckley, true to his word, smashed a furious grounder to right, which Pfeffer beat furious grounder to right, which Pfeffer beat down in a most miraculous way with one hand. There were now two men on bases and nobody out. Fields hit sharply to Burns, who aught Beckley at second. In the meantime Rows had reached third. Hanlon drove a blistering grounder to Williamson, fumbled it for an instant and then shot it to Pfeffer in time to nip Fields. Rows clattered over the plate on the play. Hanlon was on first when Sunday hoisted the ball away out into the infield for two bases. Then began a desperate run for the tying score. Both runners ran desperately but Hanlon made a fatal error when he stopped on third. Had he kept right on he could have scored easily. When Emperor William Kuehne came to bat he found Hanlon on third, Sunday on second and the crowd in a cold sweat, Hutchinson got two strikes on the German when the latter gave the ball a hideous swipe in the face. A groan arose from the stands, It looked as though the ball was going to the carriages. Van Halltren started after the ball on a keen run and by a short leap into the air squeezed it to his breast. The crowd gave a wild yell of exultation and then passed out into the street. Score: the street. Score:

PRECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

MCKEESPORT, August 23.-McKeesport and Canton played a great game up to the eighth inning to-day, when Canton scored two runs on two hits by Ryan and Miller and Hartman's muffled fly, and in the second inning Berger got first on balls, stole second and scored on a wild throw by Hess. In the fourth they scored another by Berger getting first on Provins' must of his fly, a steal of second and scored on Sharp's hit. McKeesport scored in the first by Hess getting first on balls, stole second, third n Berger's bad throw to catch him at second and scored on R. Smith's hit.

The feature of the game was the great pitching of Jones for the home club, he only allowing the big hitters from Canton four hits besides striking out seven of their best hitters.

There was a good crowd present and much interest was taken in the game, and some great work was done by both sides. The same clubs will play Saturday at 4 o'clock, with Miller and Liston as the home club's battery, while Lawless and Sharp will be the battery for Canton. There will no doubt be a large crowd present, and a great game may be expected, as the home club will most likely be in better condition than they were to-day.

Teemer Ignores Louisville People and Wil Row Here. PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

McKEESPORT, August 23.-John Teemer today received a very excellent offer from Louisville, Ky., for the proposed race between himself and Gaudaur, and also big money offers from several other places, and refused offers from several other places, and refused all of them. "Simply because the race is going to be rowed at McKeesport," said Teemer. He would not row it elsewhere, and no matter to be rowed at McKeesport," said Teemer. He would not row it elsewhere, and no matter what offugs are made will not take the race away from Pittaburg. Teemer has completed all arrangements that he can look after for the race and is training like a Trojan with great satisfaction, thanks to Evan Hughes, his trainer, who has the joke on Teemer, who, when speaking of him to your correspondent, called him Evan Davis. The Louisville offer was a very reasonable one for the great race, and knowing as well as he does what a terrible crowd the race would draw there, Teemer prefers to row the race near Pittaburg, and knows that if he rows Gaudaur again that it will be compulsory to row in water more public than the beautiful Monongahela, which is almost hidden on one side by hills and on the other by manufacturing plants. The carsmin is rowing well, and shows up very satisfactory in his trials, much more so than ever before, and will give Gaudaur a terrible tussle September 18. W. A. Nicker, chief salesman of A. Shuman & Co., the largest wholesale merchants of Boston, a warm friend of Teemer, will arrive here September I and will remain until after the race. He will look after Teemer's interests and attend to all preliminary arrangements about the course, etc., so as to allow Teemer to do nothing but train for the race. Gaudaur will arrive with Hamm and the boats September I also.

CHICAGO, August 23,-Admirers of the trotting horse who went to Washington Park enjoyed a great day's sport to-day, the fifth of the Northwestern Breeders' Association meeting. The phenomenal 3-year-old stallion, Axtell, trotted a mile in 2:14, and another 3-year-old, the bay stallion Allerton, in the third heat of a bruising race, made the circuit of the track in 2:18%. Besides these events the race for the 2:21 class was very Axtell's mise in 2:14 clips three-quarters of a Axtell's mile in 2:14 clips three-quarters of a second from his former record of 2:14%, notwithstanding the fact that even that record was better than the best previous performance of either a 3-year-old or a 4-year-old. It is also within three-quarters of a second of Patron's 2:13%, which stands as the best record for a stallion of any age.

The circumstances under which this record was made are likely to give rise to endless dis-cussion as to whether it was a record in a race or against time. Axtell and Earl McGregor were on the card of the day as starters in the stallion stake and the card also announced that Axtell would go to beat his own record. The first heat was trotted under the usual conitions of a race, and served merely as a warmer, being done in 2:19.

In the next heat, that in which the record was made, distance was waived, and Axtell had a running horse to accompany and encourage him from the upper turn to the finish, Earl McGregor being far behind and cutting no figure in it. It should be said that the heat was trotted squarely and without a skip to within about 75 feet of the wire, when, owing to had judgment in the handling of the runner, the little stallion was started into a run and galioped under the wire. Whether or not he gained by the break is an open question. Both Axtell and Allerton are owned by a lucky young man, C. W. Williams, of Independence, Ia. Before Axtell went his fast mile, Colonel John W. Conley approached Mr. Williams and asked him to put a price on the animal. Mr. Williams replied that he was not prepared to name a price. "Will you take $100,000 for him ?" said Con-

'If I were offered $100,000 for him—a positive offer." replied Mr. Williams, "I would consider "Think the matter over," were Colonel Con-ley's parting words, "and if you decide to take that amount let me know." There was a suspicion that Fred Arthur was not being driven to win, as he has a record over a three-guarter mile track better than 2:16, and as he was not winning over a fast track when the time was much slower, the judges put him in charge of another driver for the night. He was and in a great favorite in the pools.
